

Charles Lamar McCloud

July 11, 1952 - August 29, 2025

The man the myth the legend...Charles Lamar McCloud (73), AKA, Poppa, went to be with his Lord Jesus on August 29th. These last couple of days have been so empty without you. Your wife of 54 years, Debbie McCloud, keeps hoping to find you working in your workshop or watering your plants. Daddy, we can hear your voice still hanging in the air but we feel it slipping away and we are just so sad our hearts physically hurt. You were not just an amazing father to us but to your bonus daughter Michelle and anyone who needed a surrogate dad or poppa. Everyone who knew us knew that your girls thought you hung the moon and stars. There was no dad comparable. However wonderful you were as a husband and father it was unmatched by the extraordinary love you had for your grandchildren. They saw you as "the fixer". In the words of your youngest grandson, "If Poppa can't fix it no one can". As much as you loved us we all knew that you also loved your fur babies, who all thought they were Daddy's favorite. I hope that Cosmo ran into your arms and you are walking with him in heaven. I can envision you and Cosmo on your bass boat on the prettiest lake in heaven. Know that we will shower Sadie and Trixie with love until the day you can all be reunited. Your loving daughters - Christy and Lisa

A memorial will be held at his and Debbie's home in Snead, AL in the near future. Final arrangements will be made and announced within a few days.

“ Daddy it's been some time. I will never get over you not being here. You have been my constant for so long that I don't know who to call but I know that you need to rest. You were the best dad I could have picked. There isn't anyone better than you!!! You were the one that told us good morning before you went to work and told us good night when you got home from work. You were the one we called when we knew we were in trouble. When you went to work in the dark you would come and tell me to have a good day and you loved me. This you continued all my life. I can't accept you are gone but I must. I love you and I will be back with you one day. Pray for mom and Lisa and know that I will try and keep everything okay until we meet again

“ Debbie and family, I was so saddened to hear of the passing of my friend Charlie. He was a good friend and co worker during all my days at Sears. Though I have not seen him in some time he was always in my thoughts. RIP my friend.
