“ I met Jimmy in the early 70's, selling furniture in B'ham AL. He introduced me to his sister Gail, who I married. Jimmy and I had some good times, trips to Florida for long week ends, helping his dad run the gas station in Pension and of all things, he introduced me to golf, god me hooked on the game, he kicked my butt every time we played.

Jimmy, I know you are in a better place, without the pain and crap this world had to offer us. Even though we lost touch you have always been and will always be the best brother-in-law a man could have. You will be missed. R I P..
