“Hardly know where to begin, but Jimmie D. Buzbee meant an awful lot to me and so many others. He was more than just my friend, he was my brother. We often call someone our brother even though they are of no relation by birth, but he was truly my brother. The past few years that I've known him, we developed a special friendship, a bond that was like non other I've ever had. He and I not only had a love for riding and riding for others, but our lives were so parallel in so many ways and we could and would talk about anything. We both loved sports and even unknowingly competed against one another in bass tournaments for several years. We are both gear heads to a degree and talked so many times about different engines, cars, etc. We saw eye to eye in politics and had many conversations about that.

We would call one another to discuss a bike ride or maybe something related to a ride and end up going thru 10 or 20 different topics. We understood one another and we respected one another. I had more respect for Jimmie Buzbee than perhaps anyone on earth. We trusted one another. We could share information knowing that when we told one another that it was just between us that it would go no further.

We talked about our youth and some of the dumb things we did growing up .We talked about our families and this man had a special love for his 2 boys Mark and Alan and an unbreakable love for his girlfriend, partner and best friend Nancy McMurray.

I have ridden many miles on a motorcycle with many different people, but I have shared more miles with Jimmie than anyone, and for that I am very thankful.

We were all so blessed to have known Jimmie Buzbee, and if we one that could call him a friend, we were blessed beyond measure.

I love you brother and going to miss you so sorely. Hell, I already do. Praying for your boys and for Nancy that they may find peace and comfort and from hear out have nothing but the fondest memories that you have left behind.

Ride high.
