“ Marcia was incredibly talented and gifted. She was a fun and exciting friend to be around in our preteen and teenage years. We were together every Sunday and lots of days in-between, singing and playing the accordion for jail services, riding the bus downtown Birmingham to her orthodontist appointments, then to a museum or the library, and swinging by Woolworth's lunch counter for a treat. I feel as though I have lost a sister--a true original. I love you, Marcia.

Liz as you know Marcia loved you very much and was always telling how she would get you into trouble with your parents.
