“ Travis was like a father to me for 20 years. I met my late husband through him and his family. I'm so very thankful for the time that I got to spend with Travis because I learned so much from him. He was always kind and patient with me as he taught me as much as he did and every time I spoke with him, I learned something. Travis was a very intelligent individual. He was a hard working man, a wonderful husband and father, he even let me call him “dad”, my son called him “PawPaw Travis”. I miss him terribly and I can't even begin to put in words of what an amazing person he was. He was the greatest man I ever knew and he is in my thoughts always. The world becomes a scary place without some people in it... Travis Stidham was one of those people.

“ No matter how mad Travis was at someone, he always followed up with something good about that person. One day he walked over to my house apologizing if he had hit it with any paintballs. He was had at a neighbor because they were talking pretty abusive and he didn't want his wife or kids to here them talk like that. He took after them with a paintball gun. After all was said and done, he said they were dxx o drunk that they probably wouldn't remember it that normally they were pretty well behaved. He always gave you the benefit of the doubt. He was a great friend and a person you could count on and always listen to you. He would give you the story off of his back .

“ I only got to be friends with Travis for the last 4 years of his life. Travis was a wonderful friend to my husband and me. We had some fun times together. I will always remember Travis's laughter. He loved his wife unconditionally first and his daughter's and all the grandkids. Travis will be missed by so many who loved him. R.I.P. My friend, until we meet again.
