“ Uncle Troy was the only uncle I ever knew from day one. He basically raised and picked me up from my football practices when my dad couldn't. I told him as a little boy you can have my room when he lived with us. Uncle Troy always had a glow when I came and seen him. I want forgive myself for not seeing him in his days, so I owe the respects for letting the ones that knew who he was that he was the best man and Uncle I knew that would say, "hey let me tell you sum", and after that you would have a smile on your face and forgotten of how bad things was for you because Uncle been through the worse of em but never cried about it or wore it on his sleeve. I love you Uncle Troy and I hope you know that wherever the almighty has greeted you. One tho g I do know is that a person could do him wrong and it would hurt and make feel something but he would offer them back with a hug so he wouldn't be alone. I miss him more then he would ever know. He was the greatest! Always in loving memories by David Spencer a nephew that he treated like his son! Always will live through me.....
