“ Wanda, truly a "Wonder," beautiful inside and out, gave us gifts through her smiling personality, her expertise as a photographer, and much more. She gave me two special gifts on our last paddle. The first captured my enthusiasm for herpetology - a brown water snake perched on a log, as if waiting for her camera. The second, the perfect shot of a sentimental rock on the Conecuh River. A regional watercolor artist once remarked that he "painted MEMORIES!" One such "memory" is of his childhood, fishing with his grandmother, and is entitled "Claybank Creek." That painting resembles the creeks that Wanda and her fellow paddlers have traversed. He is mostly retired now, but has agreed to paint an Original for me, which I shall entitle "THE CONECUH AT DEEP CREEK," from Wanda's priceless photograph. Thank you, Wanda. You are sorely missed.

“ I met Wanda in 1988. We spent many, many hours together on the roads chasing whitewater, running together, time on the trails, time camping on whitewater adventures, hours listening to good ole bluegrass. We had a lot of great times in God's beautiful handy work. I could always count on Wanda when I was in need of something and she could count on me as well. She was the only person who called me Jen and she said with a beautiful blast of energy, joy and peace. Even though we have lived in different states for the last 25 years, our friendship was never lost. I am happy for being able to visit with Wanda and Curtis in October for a few days. I have always loved her enthusiasm, love for life, love for adventure and love for people. I am heart broken at the loss of a good friend and a wonderful person. I will keep all of her family and friends in my prayers.
